

1. Write a C++ program to create an employee database using class. Each employee should have name, emp_id and salary. Use getdata() and putdata() member functions to read and print the details of employees.
2. For the above database perform Linear searching and print a specific employee detail.
3. Pgm to create a class ACCOUNTS with function read() to input sales and purchase details. Create a Friend function to print total tax to pay. Assume 4% of profit is tax.